

In the shadowy corners all over the world,

In our factories, our houses and streets

In the air, in the land and in the sea

Something is growing for us to meet.

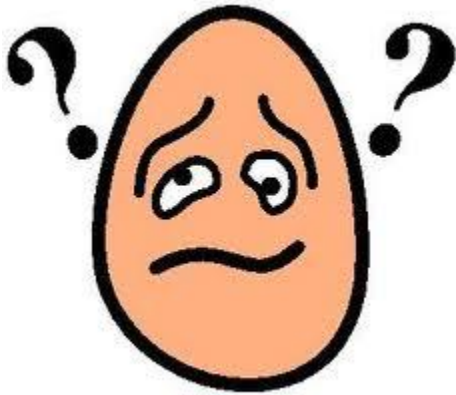

It's big and it's bad with teeth like a wolf,
But, it's small too; for we can't see it,
Carbon Dioxide is the name of our villain
Along with the other greenhouse bandits

Carbon Dioxide makes things hot,
But this isn't as good as it seems,
Our weather is changing and not for the better...

But, wait...

What does this mean?

Well, the ice caps are melting
In the North and South Poles,
And soon things there will lose their home:
Mr. Polar Bear, Ms. Penguin, Little Baby Fox
And even good ol' Santa Claus!

Sea levels are rising, slowly but surely,
Thanks to the newly melted ice,
Some countries will flood;
their homelands lost

Can you see that Carbon Dioxide's not nice?

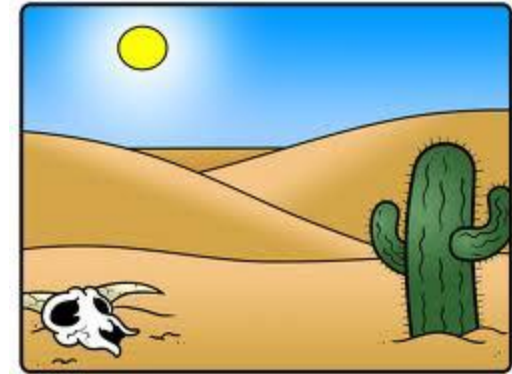

Some countries will dry up, because of no rain

And deserts will spread like a fire,

People can't farm on dried up soil,

So they'll go hungry, poor and tired...

Our future is not looking quite so bright-
If things continue the way they are...

A slight temperature rise will make all the difference

And the children and the poor will have the burden to bare

Imagine a future where water is little,
And some animals and plants have all died,
Where everyday a new disaster comes “Help” the children will all cry....

Carbon Dioxide is selfish and mean
It doesn't care that people are hurt
It'll keep on growing; it'll keep on heating,
And it'll keep destroying the earth...

We don't want this... that isn't fair
Yet it is a true and very sad fact,
Our world is suffering even now today
But it's never too late to act

A hero, that's what we need!

Someone good to keep Carbon Dioxide at bay

And over the horizon some new heroes come....

Team Tree To One is here to save the day!

With chests puffed out, and wide brave smiles

Our youthful heroes stand hand in hand

“Together we can stop Climate Change!

And stop Carbon Dioxide from ruining our land!”
